Superintendent
WILLIAM T. RODRIGUEZ

Dear Rye Residents and Families:

With nearly 30% of its land devoted to open spaces, parks and recreation – Rye truly is a unique place to work, live and play. Yet even though the City's population has remained relatively stable at around 15,000 residents, demographic shifts in age with noted increases in youth and elderly have been significant. As a result, these trends among others directly impact the evolution of the recreation program and its facilities.

Every spring, the Recreation Department and Commission invite the two governing bodies of Rye, the City Council and School Board, for an annual recreation facilities tour. Many of you have shown a great interest in knowing the status and plans of our recreation facilities so we thought we would share the highlights with you. A detailed summary can be found in the "Parks and Remarks" section of this catalog, as well as on the City website www.ryeny.gov/recreation.htm. Here are major headlines.

Ground Breaking for Damiano – 4,000 square feet will be added to the center to serve our senior program and other general community activities with a large multi-purpose room and adjacent lounge. Construction started on July 6th and is scheduled for 10 months. Not only will the new addition provide much needed new space, but it will also open up potential new uses of existing space such as for teens and scouts to name a few.

Challenge Grant Met for Skateboard Park – Over $40,000 has been raised as part of a matching challenge grant by the City to build a Skateboard Park at Recreation Park. A note of appreciation to Joanne O'Malley and her committee for leading this effort and not only meeting our goals, but also in making it such a huge success. In addition, Rye Recreation has been notified that they will be receiving a Legacy Grant from Westchester County. The Skateboard Park should ready by the late fall.

Play ball for New Fields – The first full seasons have just been completed on the new fields at Disbrow Park and Nursery Fields. Although there have been some growing pains, weather in particular, regular improvements continue to be made and the fields are a welcomed addition to our user groups and the community.

But the progress doesn't stop here. The Recreation Department and Commission continue to explore new ideas and learn from other communities on ways to improve recreation opportunities in Rye. I hope you find the facilities summary useful and remember; your commission is here to serve you, so feel free to contact the department or the commission with your questions, comments and suggestions.

Sincerely,

Douglas French
Chairman, Recreation Commission

Rye Recreation Facilities Update Douglas French, Chairman Recreation Commission

Recreation Commission Overview

Our mission remains to provide quality leisure services through a comprehensive program of activities and facilities management while maintaining effectiveness and cost efficiencies. Part of this mission is to provide a place for community programs, user groups, the public, and for the schools as part of our inter-municipal agreement with the district.

Demographic shifts in age with noted increases in youth and senior population have been significant. As a result, positive trends have impacted recreation in ways all of us have experienced in one way or another:

- Local programs and youth sport leagues have been expanding to include travel and other teams with more weekday needs for space
- More seniors are participating in organized programs as well as informally utilizing the facilities
- Teen program and services continues to emerge as an emphasized target group
- Expectations of residents that public facilities must keep pace with private sector facilities and programs
- A noticeable increase in young children and girls are participating in the recreation system
- An increased demand for specialized programs

The following is an update on Rye's public recreational facilities. The Recreation Department and Recreation Commission continue to explore new ideas and facilities enhancements that can be learned from other communities to advance recreation opportunities in Rye while striking a balance between recreation facilities and neighborhood concerns.

2006 Commuter Parking Renewal Schedule:

Recreation Park

The Skateboard Park

The Skateboard Park is a project in development that has been in the City's capital budget for 5 years. Through a combination of local fundraising, matching City funds and a Legacy Grant from Westchester County, plans to design the space and purchase equipment are underway with completion scheduled for the fall. The site will be located near the entrance from the Rye Art Center parking lot on the multi-purpose court area.

The goal is to maintain two full size basketball courts in the area as well as re-locate the tennis backboard. Given the funding level achieved, soundproofing equipment will be pursued as well as consideration in scheduling hours.

Recreation Field

15,000 square feet of sod has been installed in the center of recreation field, an area of the field that becomes overused through a multitude of sports and programs.

Multi-Purpose Courts

A full resurfacing of the multi-purpose courts, which has not been done since 1989, will be part of the proposed 2006 capital budget.

Tennis Courts

Tennis continues to be a growing program and will require regular maintenance. The all-weather courts numbers 7 and 8 were resurfaced in 2004. In addition, the parking lot near the courts off Midland Avenue was paved in the Spring of 2005.

Playgrounds

The lower playground at Recreation Park and the playground at Disbrow Park are scheduled for renovation and were delayed due to conflicts with other building projects.

Parks and Recreation Facilities

Damiano Center — 281 Midland Avenue New Addition

As the primary multi-purpose recreational building in the City, the 46-year old building no longer meets the program expansion and increased enrollment needs of the community.

A 4,000 square foot addition started construction on July 6th that will address 2 fundamental priorities outlined in the Recreation Master Plan of 2000; senior space and a large multi-purpose room that can accommodate up to 150 people. The adjacent lounge area will include a kitchenette facility and an elevator is included in the project that will serve the entire building.

The construction schedule is planned for 10 months period. A transition plan in order to maintain operations and programs during the construction will be implemented. The senior club will participate in planning the furnishings for the new space. Other improvements to the new space will be made as budget allows.

Existing Space

A second part of the Damiano project is to refurbish the existing space and to bring it up to code to include fixing leaky skylights, repairing areas of water damage, updating the fire prevention systems, and expanding bathroom facilities on the ground floor. The storage area currently in the Girl Scout room will be re-located to the hallway to create additional space for program and meeting use.

Although not part of Recreation Master Plan or the bond funding, space for teens and addressing their needs remains a community issue that recreation facilities can be a part of. Collaboration with representative teen groups on better use of existing space at Damiano such as the current game room will be explored as the new space opens up.

McDonald Building

Primarily used for meetings and after-school programs, the McDonald building also has public restroom facilities for the playgrounds, fields and tennis courts on that side of the park. The McDonald building can also be under consideration for teen space at selected hours of operation.

Disbrow Park — Oakland Beach Avenue

Facility provides 4 all-weather tennis courts. Youth and high school baseball fields, including an additional modified and youth field dedicated in June 2004, a small play area and a multi-purpose athletic field.

New Baseball/Softball Fields

The first full seasons of baseball and softball have just been completed at Disbrow Park and regular improvements continue to be made. Field compaction in certain areas has been addressed, netting will be installed to prevent foul balls, and parking and drop-offs have improved. The Recreation Department will continue to work with leagues and user groups in ways to maximize facility scheduling.

Feeley Field

Used primarily for High School-level baseball and field hockey, there have been extensive renovations in the past year. These include an area of the outfield that was raised substantially and is supported with an exterior retaining wall as well as the repairing of the Field Hockey goal areas with sod.

Sterling Field

This multi-purpose field, is greatly limited in the kinds of improvements that can be done due to environmental concerns. Money has been earmarked to rehab the field, but work will not be started until a feasibility review is completed that looks at long-range planning and potential use of the field.

Grainger Field

Grainger is the primary site for youth baseball and softball. Renovations to the field have been proposed in the 2006 capital budget. Improvements have also been completed with the assistance of Little League Baseball.

Tennis Courts

Much needed resurfacing & fence repair has been budgeted for and is in current capital budget for the tennis courts at Disbrow Park.

The Nursery Field — Milton Road

Heavy rains with nearly over 5" in one week made the start to the spring soccer season a slow one. A site inspection with two independent turf specialists indicated the field is experiencing sub-surface compaction (hard, dense soil) which is a condition common to new field construction. Aeration in several applications of the field improved this condition but will require ongoing attention.

The surrounding area of the field is considered wetlands. The City Planner and Conservation Commission are reviewing the restoration of this area.

Gagliardo Park — Nursery Lane

This neighborhood park is used for Little League baseball and as a public park and playground. Gagliardo has gone through a complete overhaul through two (2) Community Development Block Grants that included a new picnic shelter, field repairs, playground equipment, court resurfacing, plantings and lighting. This "pocket park" is home to the Leaders of Tomorrow Garden and with all the renovations; the park's popularity has risen dramatically.
